THE SCHOOL YEAR AT GREATER CONEMAUGH HIGH AS VIEWED THROUGH THE EYES OF YOUTH

Many things took place during our four years at our dear Alma Mater . . . Electing our capable class officers . . . Burning midnight oil for tests . . . Buying delicious candy from Eager Beaver Seniors . . . Cheering our boys to victory at the football and basketball games . . . Exchanging Senior graduation pictures and name cards . . . Crowning of the Football Queen . . . Showing underclassmen the ropes . . . Attending the inspiring Thanksgiving and Christmas Assemblies . . . Rushing to the cafeteria for those wonderful meals . . . Embarrassing moments at the Skating Parties . . . Dancing at the Fire Hall . . . Attending the hilarious class play . . . Buying the delicious apple cider from the Key Club . . . Dancing to the music of the "All Stars" at the Prom . . . Trying to decide our futures . . . Receiving that most cherished diploma . . . Developing friendships with club members . . . All of these made our school years happy, profitable, and complete.

To us belong these memories. They are priceless. We hope that as we project our lives into the future, we will be worthy of the training we have received here.

Foreword

With you we share the nostalgic memories of our high school days. Today we look back over the glorious times we spent together in study and in play. As the years pass, all these will be remembered. The basic preparation for our future is finished. Our yearbook records these past events and every member of the class had a part in its production. It is our last class activity, and we spent many anxious hours completing this project. No matter where we may go, we shall have this written record of our school years—beyond lie horizons of unknown experiences and opportunities.

We present to you the record of the Class of 1957, The Elevator.

The Senior Story

President ..... Margaret Labosky
Vice president ..... John Brannigan
Secretary ..... Gayle Boring
Treasurer ..... Mary Agnes Migyanka

As our freshman year began, everyone was excited about making money for the coming year. We held dances and skating parties.

We held a bake sale and sold magazine subscriptions during our sophomore year. A plan to pay class dues helped us to have a profitable year.

Our junior year gave us the responsibility of the junior-senior prom. We started our drive with a dance. Next in line came the selling of nuts for the Christmas Holidays. In need of more money, we staged a variety show entitled, "The Junior Production." Every junior participated in the show to make it a success. Finally, on May 10, the juniors were host to the seniors at the Masonic Temple. A delicious dinner, a magic show, and dancing highlighted the evening. This event ended our junior year and gave the seniors a night they will long remember.

Our goal was reached when we became seniors. Our big project was the editing of the yearbook. To get enough money, we sold candy and cards. Our drive was for a bigger and better yearbook. The year wasn't all work. We ordered class rings, traded pictures, and namecards.

Gayle Boring, Margaret Labosky, John Brannigan, and Mary Agnes Migyanka make plans for senior activities.

We returned to school and were soon caught in the whirl of renewing friendships, getting books, and arranging schedules.

After we had settled into this routine, we elected home room representatives. Room 216 elected Janice Fyock, Robert Fyock, and Josephine Calafiore. Room 218 elected Sylvia Matson, Mansel Parks, and J. C. Rickabaugh.

In October we elected class officers: president, Kalman Buchovecky; vice president, Mansel Parks; treasurer, Sylvia Matson; and secretary, Josephine Calafiore.

Our big project for the year was to earn money for the Prom. We sold magazines and held several bake-sales. During the holiday season, between Thanksgiving and Christmas, we sold holiday packs of peanuts. In April we held a variety show, the Junior Production, which also helped to fill our treasury.

At last it was May 9, Prom night! The beautiful gowns, colorful decorations, and the orchestra made it a wonderful night—one we will always remember.

The end of the year found fifty-one students in our class. W e hope to be able to finish our senior year together.

Sophomores

Well, we have finally joined the ranks of upper-classmen! Our first business was the election of class officers. Those elected were worthy of the offices they held. Each showed great interest in class projects.

Some of the pupils had an opportunity to join the chorus or orchestra; some had the opportunity to enter sports, such as football, basketball, and baseball. This year the boys had the opportunity and privilege to join the Key Club, or Hi-Y.

This year we had to start earning money for the Junior-Senior Prom which we will sponsor next year. Among our projects of fund raising for the prom were a Christmas Dance held on December 26 at the Y. A. P. C. and sale of Christmas and All-occasion cards. Later on in the school year we sold magazine subscriptions. All of these projects were a success due to untiring efforts of the class.

We wish to thank our advisors, Mrs. Lentz, Miss Dawson, Mr. DiMauro, and Mr. Slavich, who have shown interest in our projects and without whose help we could not have accomplished them.

Freshmen

HISTORY OF THE FRESHMEN CLASS

Freshmen! Beginning our first year in high school was a thrilling experience. The new surroundings were strange yet fascinating. Before we began our regular studies and other activities, we elected our officers.

At our meetings we planned various activities that we hoped to accomplish this year. During another meeting, the duties of the officers and the class were explained by our advisors: Miss Krueger, Mrs. Babyak, and Mr. Fesko. The activities were a swimming party and a dance.

The studies that were unfamiliar this year were Latin and algebra, but we found them to be most interesting. The girls gained valuable knowledge in home economics. They made skirts and jumpers the first semester and learned cooking the second semester. The boys expressed their ability in constructing nut bowls and end tables with the aid of their industrial art classes.

Our thanks go to our advisors who helped the class to a great extent and gave us advice in our many problems.

Eighth Grade

Eighty-nine ambitious eighth graders began school August 27. They were busy studying, but the "social planners" soon had activities underway with a Halloween party in the gym. The class came in masquerade, for prizes were to be given. Robert Slick's costume was judged the most gruesome, while Jean Smear's won the prize for the funniest costume.

Parties and games featured the activities at Christmas. The home rooms were decorated artistically, and trees held the honored place in each room. Food for the party on Friday afternoon was provided by the parents. While the pupils enjoyed the refreshments, the highlight of this party was the exchanging of presents, and each of the homerooms presented the teacher with a gift. Everyone radiated happiness and good-will.

After the holidays, hard work became a "must" and every student worked very hard, but a short break on February 14, marked the arrival of Cupid with his bows, arrows, and hearts.

A trip to Pittsburgh was the climax of the social affairs. Everyone had a happy year.

Seventh Grade

In September we were seventy-one strong as we entered the junior high school. For the first time we changed rooms and enjoyed the limited privileges of the under classmen. Some of us had great difficulty in finding the shop, the gym, the cafeteria, and the home economics room. We had to be guided by teachers as we stood agape in the halls. Of course time has remedied this, but we still have our memories.

We applied ourselves to our studies with concentration and enthusiasm. The girls found themselves completing aprons, and skirts in home economics, while the boys were proudly displaying cookie cutters, scoops, match holders, and rings.

At Christmas time we held parties in our gaily decorated home rooms.

Mr. Adam's room had a Valentine's party.

The geography classes had skating parties that were well attended.

As we think back over the year, we can say, "What a busy, happy year!"

The Band

PROVIDES ENTERTAINMENT FOR THE SCHOOL

STRIKE UP THE BAND

At the opening of the school term, the band elected the following officers: president, James Corey; vice president, Eugene Walasczcyk; secretary-treasurer, Yvonne Yewcic; assistant secretary-treasurer, Barbara Pristas and Sally Makuchan.

The band worked hard to raise the school spirit, and the group entertained the fans with their half-time shows. "Allegheny Moon" and "Wayward Wind" were favorites with the spectators. Many marches and many tributes to the coaches and cheerleaders were included in the shows. The band enjoyed these productions as much as the fans enjoyed watching them.

Before the football games, there were many pep rallies in which the band paraded the streets of Conemaugh playing the school songs.

The proceeds from bake sales, guess cakes, and dances provided money for purchasing band jackets for the graduating members.

Music . . . OUR SOURCE OF SPIRIT

The musical organizations have taught the students to work together as a team. They have enjoyed the music they played and the songs that they have sung.

The music organizations include: the dance band, concert band, pep band, cadet band, orchestra, mixed chorus, girls' chorus, and the boys' chorus. Working together has brought about more school spirit. In addition these groups have provided entertainment for the spectators at football and basketball games.

An opportunity to learn the functions of playing together and singing together are given here in these groups. Teachers and those interested in music are of one mind regarding the effectiveness of these organizations that have become very popular. Music should create spirit, appreciation, and enjoyment. Pupils do more and better work since they know that they give their audiences culture as well as atmosphere. Playing and singing music is not the only thing that is done in these organizations. Studying the history of the composers is also included.

The activities which provided the clubs with funds were selling chances and skating parties. The proceeds were used to finance their social activities. The students enjoyed this work.

These organizations supplied music for assemblies, pep rallies, football and basketball games, and commencement.

The chorus and the band met one period a week to practice. The other groups practiced after school.

The band gave concerts during the term, and in the spring the chorus rendered selections at the Festival.

There are over two hundred members in all of these groups. The types of music played were: marches, concert selections, jazz, rock and roll, and waltzes. These selections pleased everyone for they were varied. With the help of our director, Mr. Rovansek, every activity went smoothly.

After learning the rudiments of cooking, they also learned the "clean-up" rules – washing dishes, cleaning stoves, and washing sinks.

Field trips were taken to such interesting places as Kolb's bakery and the American Stores Warehouse. The club attended cooking demonstrations in the War Memorial.

The members had an enjoyable and a profitable year.

Clubs . . .

LEARNING IS FUN

The French Club II was organized in September. The following officers were elected: Janice Courter, president; Margaret Labosky, vice president; Darrel Rummel, secretary; and Bob Salem, treasurer. The first Friday of every month was chosen as the club's meeting date.

The French Club I was organized in January, because it is a second semester club the first year. The following officers were elected: Peggy Berkhimer, president; Mary Louise Myers, vice president; Janice Allison, secretary; and Joseph Salem, treasurer. French Club I held its meetings on the third Tuesday of every month.

The main purpose of the French Clubs was to learn more about French history, customs, and people.

Each month members of each club were placed on a program committee to prepare an interesting program for the meeting. These programs consisted of reports on French authors, churches, scientists, home life, holidays, and music. Many games which helped to increase the student's French vocabulary were played during club periods.

At the beginning of the year literary clubs were formed by the second, fourth, and fifth period literature groups, and the following officers were elected in each group respectively: president, Thomas Yingling; vice president, Larry Muir; secretary, Janet Varner; treasurer, Rose Marie Yakemik. President, Sally Makuchan; vice president, Harry Hughes; secretary; Barbara Pristas; treasurer, Mary Agnes Migyanka; librarian, Margie Stecik. President, William Roberts; vice president, Phillip Sikurinec; secretary, George Slick; treasurer, John Kosty; librarian, Margaret Labosky.

Each club met once a month. The second period met the second Friday; the fourth period, the fourth Friday; and the fifth period, the third Friday.

In November, the fifth period club was entertained at the home of Janice Courter. Games and dancing were enjoyed. At Thanksgiving, the fourth period club chanced-off a turkey. At Christmas, each group had a party and played games.

As the year drew to a close, many members had developed a new literary outlook.

Senior Play

"Rest Assured"

Mr. Morlock is a man who doesn't like anything but money. He gripes about his pains and feuds with everyone, especially Luigi Lanconi. Luigi is the father of Joe Lanconi, who wants to marry Mr. Morlock's daughter, Mary. When Luigi arrives to plead his son's case, Mr. Morlock practically boots him out of the house. Luigi is not able to take this strain on his heart so he dies. Mr. Morlock is haunted by Luigi's ghost. Needless to say, Mr. Morlock is frantic. His family thinks he has gone crazy when they discover him talking to himself. In despair, Mr. Morlock accidently takes too many sleeping pills and dies. The realization that his family doesn't miss him angers him. Later, when he is visited by Lucifer from the "lower-regions," he learns that he must go "down below" or reform. Mr. Morlock is then awakened by the maid. He realizes that it was all a dream, and he gives his consent to the marriage. Peace finally rules the Morlock home.

Eugene Walaszczyk defends his son, Thomas Wukovich, who is in love with Mary Agnes Migyanka, George Slick's daughter. The mother, Dorothy Fetsick, views the scene with younger daughter, Joan Hildebrand.

Home Room Representatives

REPRESENTATIVES UNITE TO SPONSOR SCHOOL ACTIVITIES

Preceding the regular election of officers last fall, the pupils balloted for homeroom representatives – three from each room – who were to serve throughout the year as student congressmen.

These "congressmen" nominated for class offices the persons whom they felt were best suited to lead their classes through the ensuing year. This was not the only function of the representatives. They continued to work hard all through the year, collecting money for various class activities and advising the officers on affairs of class policy. In many cases the representatives voiced the opinions of their classmates when school hours did not allow a meeting of an entire class. This introduction to democratic government was the best means of practicing better leadership and better citizenship.

The seniors who served as homeroom representatives during the past four years were: Jim Corey–4, Janice Courter–2, Dorothy Fetsick–1, James Kenjesky–4, Joan Kosty–1, John Kosty–3, Sally Makuchan–1, Mary Agnes Migyanka–2, James Roberts–3, William Roberts–1, Victor Rovansek–1, Robert Salem–1, Phillip Sikurinec –4, Rose Marie Yakemik–3, Yvonne Yewcic–4, Bill Zalubski–1.

Clubs . . . CARRY ON TRADITIONS

The Latin Club was organized in September. Their purpose was to help the students in their lessons and to encourage interest in Latin. The following officers were elected: Michael Pilot, president; Terry Kenjesky, vice-president; Judy Hildebrand, secretary; and Martha Wagner, treasurer. They met the fourth Friday of every month.

Members of the club were selected to present a program, consisting of stories from Roman mythology and games using Latin words. Miss Treece, the advisor, showed slides at one of the club meetings.

The purpose of the Speech club was to improve our speech by participating in and planning for programs to be presented the first Wednesday of the month. The programs included skits, poetry reading, and panel discussions.

The club members enjoyed a field trip to Pittsburgh. The following places were visited: Phipp's Conservatory, Carnegie Museum, Heinz Chapel, Heinz Factory, Zoo, and the Planetarium.

At the beginning of the school year the following officers were elected: president, Eugene Walaszczyk; vice-president, George Fesko; secretary, Peggy Donnelly; treasurer, Patty Pencola. Our advisor was Mrs. Babyak.

The first Senior Y-Teen project was a dance January 19. In the following weeks the girls made fudge to sell at noontime. Selling stationery was the last of the projects. The proceeds were used to send a delegate to the annual Y-Teen Conference in Bethany, West Virginia.

All this was made possible with the leadership of our advisor, Miss Joan Graziano, and the following officers: Dorothy Mandrick, president; Barbara Babyak, vice-president; Phyllis Kowal, secretary; Joan Hildebrand, treasurer.

The Junior Y-Teens made progress during the school year. The projects fulfilled during the year were as follows: a skating party and a New Year's Eve dance. For our service project we gave food to a needy family at Christmas time.

The girl elected to go to Bethany was the vice-president, Claire Boring, who will be president next year.

Our advisor, Mrs. Orletsky, has guided us in our problems this year.

The following officers were elected: president, Mary Ann Sokach; vice-president, Claire Boring; secretary, Bernice Komisar; treasurer, Paulette Krisko; assistant secretary, Annie Papuga; assistant treasurer, Betty Given.

MAJORETTES

Dorothy Mandrick, Joan Kosty, Patricia Penko, Frances Maleniak, Anna Mae Piechnik, Sandra Yingling, Mary Louise Myers, Margaret Mateer.

Clubs . . . SERVE OUR SCHOOL AND COMMUNITY

The Pep Club promoted recreation for the student body by producing skits at pep meetings, cheering at football and basketball games, and holding parties and dances.

The most successful activity was the Gremilin and Goblin Dance. The guests were the cheering squads from other schools, and a trophy was given to Shade Township, the best-dressed team.

The officers were Margaret Labosky, president; Barbara Calpin, vice president; Mary Agnes Migyanka, secretary; Sylvia Matson, treasurer; Mary Canty and Gayle Boring, sergeants-at-arms. Mrs. Orletsky was advisor.

The Key Club started its eventful year by selecting twelve new members. The officers were: Jim Roberts, president; Bill Roberts, vice president; Bob Salem, secretary; and Ed Fedornack, treasurer.

Their purpose was to serve the home, school, community, and church. The projects included the following: taking care of the cafeteria dishes; conducting the Heart Fund Drive; collecting Christmas cards for Asia; and giving two well-filled baskets at Thanksgiving and Christmas.

The Hi-Y was organized on November 5, with Mr. Wertz the advisor. The first formal business conducted by the club was the election of officers. They were as follows: Moses Gray, president; Vic Rovansek, vice president; Bill Roberts, secretary; and John Kosty, treasurer. John was the only member to be elected for his second term.

The purpose of the Hi-Y was to create, to maintain, and to extend throughout the home, school, and community, high standards of Christian character.

The majorette corps consisted of eight members. The seniors were: Joan Kosty, head majorette, Frances Maleniak, Dorothy Mandrick; the juniors were: Sandra Yingling, Mary Louise Myers; others were Patricia Penko, Margaret Mateer, and Anne Mae Piechnik. Margaret Ann Hamula is the youngest majorette and is in the third grade.

They had a successful season because the girls co-operated in all their efforts.

The majorettes who served the most time with the band, were Joan Kosty, Frances Maleniak, and Dorothy Mandrick.

YOUTH TAKES ITS PLACE
IN THE ATHLETIC WORLD

Athletics

Athletics . . .

AT GREATER CONEMAUGH

Athletics is needed in a high school to give a boy the needed guidance in leadership and self-control. A boy in the lower grades looks forward to the day when he may take part in high school competitive sports. Athletics builds a person physically and mentally so that he may be able to look after himself in later years.

A boy who excells in a particular high school sport may be given an opportunity to further his education by winning a scholarship.

He is always hoping that someday he may become a member of the exclusive Varsity "C" Club. This is a club designating one's ability to take part in athletics and earn a letter in any one sport.

A girl looks forward to becoming a cheerleader, for she is always needed where athletics is stressed. The cheerleaders are a great help in maintaining the school spirit. These girls are also considered members of the Varsity "C" Club.

Football . . . TRAINING STARTS EARLY

In August, Coach Slavich, who faced a rebuilding job with only six lettermen returning, prepared the boys for camp. Practice equipment was issued to thirty-four boys and shortly afterward they were on the field going through light drills. The second day the boys left for camp, located at Newton Hamilton, to begin in earnest the training program.

There were several pre-season scrimmage games with Westmont and Huntington to prepare the boys for their first game.

On September 7, the team journeyed to Central Cambria for the first game. The Steeds scored on a pass from Jim Roberts to Jim Kenjesky, but it was in vain, for they lost 14-6.

Shade Township was next. This game was played in a continuous rain. Jim Kenjesky scored twice for the Horses, but Shade scored in the last several minutes to win 20-13.

The first victim of the Horses was Boswell with the score of 27-0. Jim Jones, John Kosty, Laudious Canty, and Jim Kenjesky scored the touchdowns.

Conemaugh defeated Adams Township by a score of 6-0 on a last-minute pass play from Jim Roberts to Jim Kenjesky for a touchdown.

Ferndale met Conemaugh at the Point Stadium, and the game was played to a scoreless tie.

The next three games were successive losses to Catholic High, Portage, and Somerset.

The final record stood at two wins, six losses, and one tie. With only five regulars graduating, the team can look ahead for a successful season in 1957 with 14 lettermen returning.

The season was not in vain for three of our boys were recognized in the Tribune-Democrat All Scholastic team. Jim Roberts was placed on the first team, and John Kosty and Jim Kenjesky were given honorable mention.

THE SPIRIT

BEHIND OUR TEAMS

The managers and cheerleaders are necessary to carry on the athletic program.

The coach of each respective sport selected his managers to help the team to handle equipment. This system kept everything in order and seldom was anything lost. Boys who, the coaches think, can help the team the most and keep things in order are selected.

Cheerleaders help to maintain the school spirit at every game. They are chosen by the advisor, with additional help of three coaches.

Dances were held to raise money to buy megaphones, beanies, and other essentials. Additional fund raising projects were held to buy gifts for the senior girls and to hold a banquet.

William Gasior, Ronald Skrodinsky, James Cobaugh, Steve Gaborek, and John Skrodinsky are repairing equipment.

Ronald Wolfe, Robert Bonk, James Calpin, and John Kosty pack for the next game.

SEVEN BASKETEERS FORM NUCLEUS OF HORSES HARDWOOD SQUAD

Two weeks after football season ended, the basketball hopefuls reported to Coach Yewcic. After screening the candidates, there were eight players on the roster.

There were four letter winners from the previous season's West Central League Champs. After two weeks of practice, the team traveled to Gallitzin for the first game. The first team was composed of Jim Roberts, Bill Roberts, Jim Johnson, Jim Kenjesky, and Bill Fetsik. This combination won the first seven games and then went into West Central League competition.

The Steeds took their share of losses but ended up with more games in the win column.

With young players returning, Coach Yewcic can look ahead to a successful future.

Basketball

The Junior Varsity coached by Mr. Adams had a successful season. Composed only of freshmen and sophomores, the team won seventy-five per cent of their games. They gained valuable experience since most of their opponents were sophomores and juniors. This experience should be a valuable asset in the coming years.

The team included the following boys: Edwin Kostura, Tom Piker, John Naworal, Don Briggs, Charles Migyanka, Rodger Howells, Mike Pilot, James Cobaugh, Terry Kenjesky, George Fesko, and James Jones.

The junior high squad was in the building stage because all the former players were promoted to the Junior Varsity. The Junior High team is composed of ten freshmen and two seventh graders. Our coach, Mr. Slavich, had to teach the boys the fundamentals of passing, shooting, dribbling, pivoting, and good sportsmanship. These were the skills that the boys worked hard to master. Since these were important to a winning team, the boys played hard. This season's record was eight wins and eight losses.

True Confessions

Of

With no regrets I filled in the blanks on the following pages of this Naughty Autobiography, a lasting record of my days in the Greater Conemaugh Joint High School.

A Naughty

The approximate number of hours spent studying my lessons .....

The number of "F's" I received during my career at C. H. S. .....

Who is my "model teacher?" .....

Whom would I name as Miss 1956 of Greater Conemaugh Jt. High School?

With whom did I go to the Junior-Senior Prom? .....

The person who wore my class ring .....

My favorite excuse for not having my home work done .....

How many times did I go to the Encyclopedia for a book report? .....

Who was my first date at Greater Conemaugh Joint High School? .....

How many times I was late. .....

Who would I name as Mr. 1956 of Greater Conemaugh Joint High School?

The number of times I played "hookey." .....

Autobiography

The teacher who gave me the most homework .....

The number of football players I did not have a crush on .....

How many hours I loafed in the library? .....

The biggest wolf or "wolfess" in the class of '57 .....

How many times did I glance at my neighbor's paper during a test? .....

How many times I became ill on test day? .....

The number of desks that I helped to fill with candy papers .....

The number of times that I was sent to the office .....

My favorite blonde .....

The personality I wouldn't mind getting stuck in an Elevator with? .....

How many times I "sneaked" into school before the bell.....

How many times I wish that I could be a student once again at Greater Conemaugh Joint High School .....
